Population in millions

How many people live in the EU?

Population in millions (2019)

446 million in total

2008: Worldwide financial crisis starts in the United States.
Coordinated response from European leaders:

- Commitment to the euro and to financial stability
- New crisis management tools and reforms of rules:
 - European Stability Mechanism: fund to help countries in extraordinary economic difficulties
 - New laws for stability of banks
 - Banking Union: EU-wide supervision of banks and a mechanism to close down failing banks
- Better economic governance:
 - European Semester: annual procedure to coordinate public budgets
 - Euro+ pact, 'Fiscal compact treaty': mutual commitments to sound public finances

The European Fund for Strategic Investments

The Investment Plan for Europe, adopted in November 2014, uses public guarantees to stimulate private investment.

The plan's European Fund for Strategic Investments has already mobilised €439 billion worth of investments (by October 2019), exceeding expectations.

The plan's investments have supported the creation of 1.1 million jobs, a figure set to rise to 1.7 million by 2022.

More than one million small and medium-sized companies are set to benefit from improved access to finance and the plan has helped to boost EU Gross Domestic Product by 0.9%.

The EU's response to the financial crisis:

- Rulebook:

New laws to ensure that banks have adequate capital and better risk control

- Supervision:

The European Central Bank supervises the +/- 130 of the most important banks

National bank supervisors work closely together

- Resolution:

A Europe-wide Single Resolution Board can decide to wind down a failing bank

This is backed by a fund that banks themselves pay into, thus ensuring that taxpayers do not have to pick up the bill.

How does the EU spend its money?

The annual EU budget in 2019 was around €165.8 billion – a large sum in absolute terms, but only about 1% of the wealth generated by the economies of the Member States every year.

Increasing the EU's climate ambition for 2030 and 2050

Becoming the world's first climate-neutral continent by 2050 is the greatest challenge and opportunity of our times. To achieve this, the European Commission presented the European Green Deal in December 2019.

The Green Deal is an integral part of the Commission's strategy to implement the United Nation's 2030 Agenda and the sustainable development goals.

The Commission will propose the first European 'climate law' by March 2020. This will enshrine the 2050 climate neutrality objective in legislation.

The EU has already started to modernise and transform the economy with the aim of climate neutrality. Between 1990 and 2018, it reduced greenhouse gas emissions by 23%, while the economy grew by 61%.

By summer 2020, the Commission will present an impact assessment plan to increase the EU's greenhouse gas emission reductions target for 2030 to at least 50% and towards 55% compared with 1990 levels in a responsible way.

Why the euro?

- No fluctuation risk and foreign exchange cost
- More choice and stable prices for consumers
- Closer economic cooperation between EU countries

Can be used everywhere in the euro area

- Coins: one side with national symbols, one side common
- Notes: no national side

- EU countries using the euro
- EU countries not using the euro

Four freedoms of movement:

- goods
- services
- people
- capital

The single market has led to:

- significant reductions in the price of many products and services, including airfares and phone calls
- more choice for consumers
- millions of new jobs
- more opportunities for businesses

Since May 2015, the European Commission has delivered most of the proposals announced in its Digital Single Market strategy. These include:

- Roaming charges ended in June 2017, so people can use their mobile device when travelling in the EU, paying the same prices as at home.
- Strong new EU rules on personal data protection came into force on 25 May 2018.
- The WiFi4EU initiative supports installing free public Wi-Fi hotspots in local communities across the EU.
- New tools to help defend people and businesses against cyberattacks.
- From 2018, new rules let people use their online subscriptions to films and TV, e-books, video games and music services when travelling within the EU.
- In 2018, plans to invest €1 billion in building a world-class European supercomputers infrastructure.

Europe has the best levels of social protection in the world and ranks highly in terms of quality of life and wellbeing.

It maintains these through a number of initiatives:

- The European Social Charter guarantees fundamental social and economic rights. It guarantees a broad range of everyday human rights related to employment, housing, health, education, social protection and welfare
- The European Social Fund is Europe's main instrument for supporting jobs, helping people get better jobs and ensuring fairer job opportunities for all EU citizens. Investment of €10 billion a year improves job prospects for millions of Europeans, in particular those who find it difficult to get work
- The European Employment Strategy's main aim is the creation of more and better jobs throughout the EU
- The Youth Guarantee is a commitment by all Member States to ensure that all young people under the age of 25 years receive a good quality offer of:
 - employment
 - continued education
 - apprenticeship
 - traineeship

within a period of four months of becoming unemployed or leaving formal education.

Schengen

- No police or customs checks at borders between most EU countries, and Norway, Liechtenstein, Switzerland and Iceland.
- Controls strengthened at the EU's external borders
- More cooperation between police and immigration authorities from different EU countries
- Buy and bring back any goods for personal use when you travel between EU countries

Erasmus+

Every year, more than 400 000 young people study or pursue personal development in other European countries with the support of the EU's Erasmus+ programme for education, training, youth and sport.

In addition, Erasmus+ supports the European Solidarity Corps and the European Voluntary Service.

Common foreign and security policy.

The EU pursues an ambitious trade negotiation agenda and a balanced and progressive trade policy to harness globalisation.

New trade agreements with:

- Canada (2017)
- Japan (2018)
- and many more...

Development assistance and humanitarian aid.

- Civil Protection Mechanism: governmental aid delivered in the immediate aftermath of a disaster
- rescEU, a new system intended to increase overall disaster-response capacities.

The EU's foreign and security policy is centred on:

- Promoting international peace and security,
- Development cooperation,
- Human rights and the rule of law
- Responding to humanitarian and climate emergencies.

Internationally, the EU uses its diplomatic, political, economic, security and humanitarian tools for peaceful solutions to conflicts, in particular in Libya, Syria and Ukraine.

In December 2017, 25 Member States agreed to establish a Permanent Structured Cooperation, a legally binding framework to work together more closely on security and defence.

In 2017, a European Defence Fund was launched for cooperation in research and development for joint industrial defence products and technologies. The Fund will invest €90 million in research and €500 million in development by 2020.

In April 2019, the European Parliament endorsed plans for the Fund to receive an estimated €13 billion in the EU's next long-term budget between 2021 and 2027, and finance collaborative research projects mainly through grants.

The EU is the biggest provider of development aid in the world

Through aid and cooperation, the European Union supports developing countries and their transition to economic and social stability.

The European Union and its Member States continued to be the world's leading provider of official development assistance in 2018 and stepped up their efforts directed at developing countries.

Collective assistance from the European Union and its Member States amounted to more than €74.4 billion in 2018.

In September 2018, the Africa–Europe Alliance for Sustainable Investment and Jobs was launched. Its aim is to take the EU's partnership with Africa to the next level by helping to improve job creation in Africa by supporting education and skills, boosting trade and mobilising investment in strategic economic sectors.

Equality between women and men is a fundamental value of the EU

The EU aims to help women get the jobs they want and the same pay as men, and help them strike a better balance between work and other areas of life:

- Employment: In 2017, the share of women in work in the EU went up to 66.6%, compared to nearly 80% of men
- Equal pay: On average, women earn 16% less than men in the EU. In November 2017, the EU presented New Start, an Action Plan to close the gap between what women and men are paid
- Funding: Investing in specific actions to help get women into work include schemes to retrain and improve skills; helping women return to work after a career break, by providing quality childcare, providing individual guidance to women improving employers' awareness of the challenges faced by women
- The Economy: The gap in employment between men and women costs the EU economy €370 billion per year. Improving gender equality could create 10.5 million jobs by 2050 and boost the EU economy by between €1.95 and €3.15 trillion

Another major priority is to stop violence against women and girls. The EU-funded NON.NO.NEIN campaign, encourages men and women to take a stand on violence against women.
