Marta Statkiewicz
Department of International and European Law
Faculty of Law, Administration and Economics
University of Wroclaw
sources of law
sources of international law

sources of international obligations
1. The Court, whose function is to decide in accordance with international law such disputes as are submitted to it, shall apply:

   • international conventions, whether general or particular, establishing rules expressly recognized by the contesting states;

   • international custom, as evidence of a general practice accepted as law;

   • the general principles of law recognized by civilized nations;

   • subject to the provisions of Article 59, judicial decisions and the teachings of the most highly qualified publicists of the various nations, as subsidiary means for the determination of rules of law.

2. This provision shall not prejudice the power of the Court to decide a case ex aequo et bono, if the parties agree thereto.
The Court shall apply:

1. International conventions, whether general or particular, establishing rules expressly recognized by the contesting States;

2. International custom, as evidence of a general practice accepted as law;

3. The general principles of law recognized by civilized nations;

4. Subject to the provisions of Article 59, judicial decisions and the teachings of the most highly qualified publicists of the various nations, as subsidiary means for the determination of rules of law. This provision shall not prejudice the power of the Court to decide a case ex aequo et bono, if the parties agree thereto.
art. 21 of the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court

1. The Court shall apply:

   a) In the first place, this Statute, Elements of Crimes and its Rules of Procedure and Evidence;

   b) In the second place, where appropriate, applicable treaties and the principles and rules of international law, including the established principles of the international law of armed conflict;

   c) Failing that, general principles of law derived by the Court from national laws of legal systems of the world including, as appropriate, the national laws of States that would normally exercise jurisdiction over the crime, provided that those principles are not inconsistent with this Statute and with international law and internationally recognized norms and standards.

2. The Court may apply principles and rules of law as interpreted in its previous decisions.

3. The application and interpretation of law pursuant to this article must be consistent with internationally recognized human rights, and be without any adverse distinction founded on grounds such as gender as defined in article 7, paragraph 3, age, race, colour, language, religion or belief, political or other opinion, national, ethnic or social origin, wealth, birth or other status.
art. 20 of the Protocol of the Court of African Union

1. The Court, whose function is to decide in accordance with international law such disputes, as are submitted to it, shall have regard to:

   a) The Act;

   b) International treaties whether general or particular, establishing rules expressly recognized by the contesting states;

   c) International custom, as evidence of a general practice accepted as law;

   d) The general principles of law recognized universally or by African States;

   e) Subject to Article 37 of this Protocol, judicial decisions and the writings of the most highly qualified publicists of various nations as well as the regulations, directives and decisions of the Union as subsidiary means for the determination of the rules of law.

2. This provision shall not prejudice the power of the Court to decide a case ex aequo et bono, if the parties, agree thereto.
1. A court or tribunal having jurisdiction under this section shall apply this Convention and other rules of international law not incompatible with this Convention.

2. Paragraph 1 does not prejudice the power of the court or tribunal having jurisdiction under this section to decide a case ex aequo et bono, if the parties so agree.
hierarchy of sources of international law
hierarchy of sources of international law

- unilateral acts of States
- judicial decisions *
- treaties
- general principles recognized by civilized nations
- doctrine
- customary rules
- binding decisions of international organizations
hierarchy of sources of international law

PRIMARY SOURCES

SECONDARY SOURCES

SUBSIDIARY SOURCES
hierarchy of sources of international law

PRIMARY SOURCES
- treaties
- customary rules
- unilateral acts of States
- general principles recognized by civilized nations

SECONDARY SOURCES
- binding decisions of international organizations
- judicial decisions based on principle of equity

SUBSIDIARY SOURCES
- other judicial decisions
- doctrine
unilateral acts of States

1. PROTEST – unilateral declaration designed to object to an act or action performer by another State; its purpose and legal effect is to show that the protesting State does not recognize, accept, or acquiesce in the act or action; or preserves the right to challenge that act or action.

2. RECOGNITION (of act or conduct) – unilateral transaction (or, in the case of tacit or implicit recognition, conduct) aimed at considering as legitimate that situation or conduct; its legal effect is to bar the recognizing State from subsequently challenging what had been previously recognized.

3. RENUNCIATION – willing unilateral abandonment of a right, which is deliberate and clear (although it may be explicit or tacit).

4. NOTIFICATION - act by which State makes other States informed of a certain action it has performed; its legal effect is to preclude the other States from subsequently claiming that, not knowing the action notified, they were entitled to behave differently.

5. PROMISE – unilateral declaration by which a State undertakes to behave in a certain manner; it establishes a new rule binding the promising State toward one or more States.
hierarchy of norms of international law

TREATY

LEGAL NORM

LEGAL NORM

LEGAL NORM

LEGAL NORM
hierarchy of norms of international law

I. Ius cogens / peremptory norms
I. Ius cogens / peremptory norms

art. 53 of the Vienna Convention on the law of treaties

A treaty is void if, at the time of its conclusion, it conflicts with a peremptory norm of general international law.

For the purposes of the present Convention, a peremptory norm of general international law is a norm accepted and recognized by the international community of States as a whole as a norm from which no derogation is permitted and which can be modified only by a subsequent norm of general international law having the same character.
I. Ius cogens / peremptory norms

- Prohibition of the treat or use of force
- Prohibition of genocide
- Prohibition of tortures
- Prohibition of slavery
- Prohibition of racial segregation
II. legal obligations derived from the Charter of the United Nations
II. Legal obligations derived from the Charter of the United Nations

art. 103 of the Charter on the United Nations

In the event of a conflict between the obligations of the Members of the United Nations under the present Charter and their obligations under any other international agreement, their obligations under the present Charter shall prevail.
subsidiary sources of international law
subsidiary sources of international law

judicial decisions

doctrine